THE NEW LINDELL ROAD.

IT'S ELECTRIC EXTENSIONS TO BE IN FULL OPERATION IN NINETY DAYS.

Contracts for All the Work Made—The Changes to Cost Fully $1,200,000—Equipments of the Road—The New Country Opened Up—Provisions of the Franchises, Routes, Etc.

EVERYTHING is being done, as reported by Mr. Geo. D. Capen, President of the Lindell Railway Co., to have the electric railway extensions of the company recently authorized by the Municipal Assembly, completed in ninety days. Mr. Capen, speaking of the work this morning, said the contracts had all been let except for the Forest Park pavilion and work will be commenced along the line within a few days. When it gets through the company will have expended fully $1,200,000, in changes and extensions. The contract as let for the power-house calls for a building to cost $150,000 and to have a frontage of 225 feet and a depth of 150 feet. It will be located on the west side of Compton avenue north of Chouteau, the site of the present station. It will be equipped with four 400-horse power engines, giving 1,600-horse power in all. The plans and specifications under the Sprague system, which includes all of Edison's present patents and those he may add in future, are entirely completed, so that there will be no danger of a delay in turning the power station over for operation in ninety days.

THE FIRST WORK of construction will be in extending the line out the Manchester road to the Bates statue at Forest Park. The next will be on the line from Grand avenue on Finney to Taylor, and then the double track on Delmar to De Balive avenue will be laid. The contracts for all of the rails and ties have been let and deliveries of them are now being made in each of the extensions. The two systems complete will be expected to be turned over for active operation in ninety days. Out Delmar, from Taylor, west, some poles will be set in the center of the street, on every other one of which there will be an electric light. In equipping the system 200 coaches and 100 motor cars will be used, and Mr. Capen says they will be the handsomest cars on any line in the country. The Forest Park Pavilion will be a building of great addition to the park. It will cost $50,000. The plans for it have been completed, and the contracts for its erection will be made within a few days.

WESTERN LINE EXTENSIONS. In connection with these changes even those most interested in property adjacent to the Lindell and operating up to the present seem to have little idea of just what the extensions are. This is particularly true of the extension from Delmar to De Balive avenue, where the line will be extended north to Union avenue, thence south on a line coincident with the center line of De Balive avenue, crossing all intersecting streets, etc., to and into Forest Park, not exceeding 500 feet in length. In securing private property for right-of-way, the road will be extended north to Union avenue, thence south on a line coincident with the center line of De Balive avenue, crossing all intersecting streets, etc., to and into Forest Park, not exceeding 500 feet in length. BLUE LINE CHANGES AND EXTENSIONS. On the Blue Line the extensions authorized are calculated to bring in considerable new territory. The first is to lay a single track from a point in the track now laid at Eighteenth and Papin streets, thence west along Papin street to the intersection of Chouteau street, and thence south along Chouteau street to the intersection of Chouteau street and Second Street, and thence south along Chouteau street to the intersection of Chouteau street and Second Street, and thence south along Chouteau street to the intersection of Chouteau street and Second Street.

RIVER TRANSPORTATION.

AN IMPORTANT CRISIS AS REGARDS THE MISSISSIPPI ROUTE.

HOPE AND FEARS OF THOSE INTERESTED IN TRAFFIC ON THE FATHER OF WATERS—LARGE APPROPRIATION FOR RIVER IMPROVEMENT PROBABLE—A DANGEROUS MOVE IN FAVOR OF LOW BRIDGES.

THE question of the navigation of the Mississippi at the present time is exciting great interest among St. Louis exporters, and the action of the House of Representatives is being watched. It is the opinion of those who have most at stake in river traffic that never before there was such an opportunity of increasing the trade of this city, and also that never before the trade of the river was so much in danger of being lost to the city as it is now. A strong and well organized movement is being made to secure appropriations from Congress for improving the river of an unusually large amount, and in this movement not only St. Louis and New Orleans, but also Memphis, Vicksburg, other river cities, and the interior points in Tennessee and Alabama tributary to the Cumberland and Tennessee Rivers are participating.

SOME NEW ALLIES. The completion of the Muscle Shoals Canal on the Tennessee has changed the course of a very large amount of traffic, and greatly strengthened the influence that can be brought to bear upon Congress to induce that body to make an appropriation for improving the Mississippi that will be adequate. Farmers in the country drained by the upper Mississippi, who have heretofore been obliged to ship their crops by rail to Eastern ports, will in future be able to send them by river, and their influence is being thrown strongly in favor of a large appropriation for improving the channel of the Mississippi. The number of St. Louis exporters have compiled statistics to present to the House of Representatives showing that the Government will save many millions of dollars by making appropriations for river improvement. The old methods would have been extended over five years. Owing to the shifting nature of the channel and sandbars, practical improvement of the Mississippi is a very expensive matter, as the work done in one year to a great extent undone by the next, and must be commenced anew.

WHERE A SUFFICIENT SUM appropriated to allow all points requiring improvement to be taken care of, the first cost would be large, but a good channel could be secured, a thing that in low water would be a great advantage. The expense of keeping it open would be comparatively trifling. With this scheme the St. Louis exporters are in a position to affect a sufficient appropriation is made to cover all had portions of the channels at the same time. The Mississippi river and Harbor Committee are, it is believed, inclined to favor this view of the situation, and to recommend a measure in which the St. Louis exporters have a great interest. The bill for the improvement of the river is now in the hands of the committee.

On the other hand, the threatening danger of the unobstructed navigation of the Mississippi (which may be an incalculable amount of damage) to the railroad, as well as to the St. Louis river and Harbor Committee, is a serious one. AN ELDERLY SPINSTER'S LONGING AFFECTION FOR A CHARMING FLIRT, TWENTY YEARS HER JUNIOR—MR. MISKILL BREAKS HIS FLIGHT—TROT AND MISS BRADY SUE HIM FOR DAMAGES—INTERESTING LOVE LETTERS.

NEW YORK, March 19. "Even now I would marry that man to keep my word," exclaimed Miss Isabella Brady yesterday, as she was completing her narrative to the jury before the Superior Court. Miss Brady has brought suit to recover $10,000 damages from Thos. B. Miskill for breach of promise of marriage. Miss Brady is a spinster, 55 years of age, but she is just as anxious to become a happy bride as she was a generation ago. She hoped to be the wife of Miss Miskill, who was a young man, 25 years of age, and she has had a long and affectionate relationship with him for the past five years. Miss Brady is a native of England, where she has considerable property, but now claims the protection of her adopted country. Miskill is also a subject of Her Majesty the Queen, and served in England in the Guards, but the tired of the life of a soldier and deserted and came to this country. He is 30 years of age and a charming player. He is now looking for a living at the Olympia Theater in Harlem and has also been connected with Gilmore's Bazaar and with other theatricals. Miss Brady proved to be a very persistent lover, as Thomas found out. She cared for him when he was sick and has been desirous of looking after his welfare ever since. She made his acquaintance in 1882 and they were married in April, 1886, but postponed the wedding until October, 1888, when he absolutely refused to make her his wife. Miss Brady rattled on at her own sweet will on the witness stand and could not be withheld by the lawyers. She called on her on Sunday, and they had together. They lived in the same boarding house for some time, and she prepared his meals. He agreed to make her his wife in 1888, and took her to Tiffany's and ordered a ring for her, which was made by a jeweler in New York. She was a close fit, and she said she wanted to have it larger, but he said it was better to have it tight for she could not get it off so easily. He took the ring, however, and did not return it. He told her he would make her take the ring for her, which was made by a jeweler in New York. She was a close fit, and she said she wanted to have it larger, but he said it was better to have it tight for she could not get it off so easily. He took the ring, however, and did not return it.

such general exaltation. Her two numbers were splendidly received, and the demands for encores were only limited by the strict rules which are enforced at these concerts. Miss Selma Krauss was the solo pianist and was well received. She was the recipient of so many floral tributes that the attendants had considerable trouble to remove them. Her music in all shapes and in a profession which was remarkable. The orchestra, which did good and unaffected credit on themselves and on Mr. A. Waldner, the conductor. The various numbers given by them were received with marked attention by the audience and the applause was liberal and impartially distributed. The largest in & Major for violins, with Mr. Frank Gecks, Jr., as the solo violinist, showed that Mr. Gecks' ability as a soloist was all that could be expected from so young a man.

The next concert, which will be the last of the series, will be given on April 15. There will be three "request" numbers, to be chosen by the patrons of the Musical Union.

The rest of the programme will be made up by Mr. Waldauer.

Compton Funeral Rites Witnessed on Compton Hill Monday Evening.		One-hundred yard dash.		Pittsburg	22	8.7	Chan
The death of Rev. Commodore Decatur, the veteran Compton Hill colored minister and political leader, occasioned a general funeral service among the colored people in that section of the city. The funeral services preliminary to the funeral exercises began in the Compton Hill Baptist Church on Compton avenue and LaSalle street Monday evening about 7 o'clock and continued until midnight. The body was placed on a catafalque in the front of the church and was surrounded by floral tributes from churches from the limited means of the members of the congregation. The services were of a wild character. The lights were turned low and a service consisted of hymns and addresses by the men and women of the church. He was seen sobbing, singing and praying. The congregation spent four hours of the night, manifesting their love of their old pastor.		One-hundred-and-twenty yard hurdle race.		Parkville	22	8.8	Chan
